Lift up a child’s voice. A child’s life.
The mission of Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of Santa Barbara County is to assure a safe, permanent, nurturing home for every abused and/or neglected child by providing a highly trained volunteer to advocate for them in the court system.

The images in this publication are not of children we serve. These kids are happy, smiling representatives that inspire us as we help the hurting kids we do serve to have their own happy endings.
LIFT UP A CHILD’S VOICE—A CHILD’S LIFE.

One of our volunteers shared a story with me the other day. She spent a beautiful weekend afternoon walking hand in hand with a young foster child at the zoo. Like many children who go into foster care, this little girl had experienced too many nightmares that didn’t end with the morning sun and too few of the simple, fun days that most children enjoy.

Riding on the zoo train, the girl looked up at her volunteer and said, “This is my best day.”

In Santa Barbara County, more than 300 foster kids have a caring CASA volunteer who offers them the gifts of time and joy and who believes in them. These children also have something of incredible value: They have someone who advocates for them, protects their rights, and ensures that they find their way to a safe, loving home.

When children are abused or neglected, they suffer a betrayal of the worst kind. They are let down by the very people they should be able to count on most. When they are removed from their parents for their own safety, they too often suffer once again from a foster care system that is overwhelmed and fails to meet their needs.

That’s where CASA volunteers—and you—step in.

Our goal is to make sure that every foster child has a CASA volunteer, but hundreds of kids are still waiting for that person. As you read this report of our accomplishments over the past year, know that you—our dedicated volunteers and our generous partners and donors—played a critical role in all of them.

When you support CASA of Santa Barbara County, you help your CASA program provide the quality training and support our volunteers need to make life better for abused and neglected children. You also send a powerful message to foster kids: Their community believes in their future.

We are grateful that you believe in us.

MESSAGE FROM TONY PAPA, PRESIDENT

I am so pleased to have been elected president of CASA of Santa Barbara County. My wife, Sabrina, and I have always been attracted to organizations that enhance the lives of children. They are our future and the world needs their help.

There are so many incredible benefits to the work we do at CASA. I was initially drawn to the obvious impact our program makes on the trajectory of an abused and neglected child’s future.

Right now in our community, a small and dedicated army of CASA volunteers are planting seeds of love, knowledge and self-worth within what would otherwise be a lost population of children. I believe, as many of my team members do, that the work of a CASA volunteer is the best long-term economic stimulus our country will receive.

During our last fiscal year, we served 51% of the abused and neglected children who are dependents of our county’s court system. While this is a dramatic increase from years past, it simply isn’t good enough. It is imperative that we serve 100% of the children in need and we are determined to get there by the end of 2018. Donor support has been instrumental in laying the financial foundation for the expansion of our program. These contributors, many of whom are listed in this report, are making it possible for every child to have the promise of a better tomorrow. Our commitment is to continue to use each dollar wisely and with the greatest long-term impact.

I think it is important to note that we are approaching our business as any other enterprise. The only difference is that we are a social enterprise, meaning our return on investment benefits everyone.

The primary key to our success is our ability to recruit, train and administer the men and women who volunteer their time to serve as advocates. These are the people who are doing the heavy lifting and saving the lives of future societal contributors.

Our volunteers do this great service on behalf of humanity. They are driven by a higher calling and they have my respect and admiration. Please continue to support our mission. Our children and our children’s children will be grateful.

Appreciatively yours,

—TONY PAPA
President, Board of Directors
OUR 2013 ACHIEVEMENT HIGHLIGHTS

❤️ 19,639 hours of volunteer advocacy were served to benefit 319 children, providing $474,871 in value to our community.

❤️ We opened our office in Lompoc, providing support to new and existing volunteers working with abused and neglected children there.

❤️ We received our Standards for Excellence Certification from the National CASA Association of which we are a member. This achievement recognizes our organization’s commitment to providing children with the highest quality of service through our well-trained and supported volunteers.

❤️ New funding partners include The Kobe and Vanessa Bryant Family Foundation, and the Toy Industry Foundation of America.

❤️ More than 80 of our current volunteers joined social workers and CASA staff from Santa Barbara County and San Luis Obispo County for specialized training in “family finding” to enhance our efforts at making sure children don’t lose possible lifelong connections.
Nearly 100 new CASA volunteers joined our ranks. Our dedicated volunteers are making a difference every day in the lives of more than 300 abused and neglected children.

231 volunteers were assigned to advocate for 319 children in our community.

168 of the children on our waiting list received appointment of a CASA volunteer.

89 children had their cases successfully resolved with the help of CASA volunteers.
CASA is central to fulfilling one of society’s most fundamental obligations by making sure a qualified, compassionate adult will fight for and protect a child’s right to be safe, to be treated with dignity and respect, and to learn and grow in the safe embrace of a loving family.

“Most citizens do not know what goes on behind the closed doors of the juvenile and family courts of this nation—but CASA volunteers do. They see the pain and trauma of the child first-hand. They understand the law and the court process. They guide the child through the labyrinth and give the child comfort during a traumatic time.”

Volunteers do not necessarily have the time; they just have the heart. —Elizabeth Andrew

THANK YOU!
I am for the child who’s had seven addresses in a single year. Because she’s in foster care. Because her father abused her. And because her mother couldn’t believe her.
That is the child I am for.
And because I am, she will be half as likely to languish in foster care, and that much more likely to find a safe, permanent home.
I am a Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) volunteer.
I am you.
Manuel was just 3 years old when he was abandoned by his mother and placed in a foster home.

Manuel showed signs of severe neglect and physical abuse: he had scars on his body, was not toilet trained, and his speech was extremely limited.

His attorney immediately recommended that a Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) be assigned to Manuel’s case, knowing that a CASA would be able to provide individual advocacy to Manuel to ensure his urgent needs were met and that he would receive the time and attention he needed to heal physically and emotionally.

On the outside, Manuel was an adorable, friendly child, but his history of abuse had caused serious damage to his inner, emotional health. When he became frustrated, Manuel would act violently. This challenging behavior proved difficult for foster parents, so within seven months Manuel was moved three times.

Manuel’s CASA saw that the changes aggravated Manuel’s emotional trauma, so she worked to keep him from being moved again. She advocated for intensive therapy and special education as well as training for the foster parents in order to stabilize Manuel in their home and in school.

For the CASA, these improvements were not enough. Believing that Manuel needed a forever home, she continued to make inquiries about a permanent adoptive home, and when a young couple became interested in adopting Manuel, his CASA spoke to them weekly, keeping them up-to-date on Manuel’s progress in school and at home.

When Manuel was set to meet his adoptive parents for the first time, his CASA was with him. In fact, she helped him throughout the transition to a new home and continued to see him weekly until the adoption was finalized.

On a recent visit, his CASA was treated to a tour of his home. He told her, “This is my home now, and this is my own room. What I like here is that I have a mom and a dad who love me. They help me with my homework, and my dad even taught me how to fish!”

Throughout the year, we host events to raise precious operating funds and increase community awareness of the need for our program. This year, CASA supporters joined us in October for CASA at the Vineyard 2012 at Ca’ Del GreVino, and at the Montecito Country club in April for Wine Women and Shoes 2013.

Through these events, we raised nearly $250,000—funding that directly supports program services, providing advocacy for abused and neglected children in our community.

We are grateful to all who attended these events, and thankful for the very special committee members who made the events unique and fun.
